Read the passage & answer the questions that follows.

Deep within the heart of the forest, there was a place where sunlight barely touched the ground. The trees were ancient, their thick trunks covered in moss, and their branches twisted like long fingers pointing towards the sky. Birds chirped softly, while the rustling leaves whispered secrets to those who dared to listen. Few travelers ventured into this part of the forest, for it was said to be enchanted. One day, a young boy named Liam decided to explore the forest. He had always been curious about what lay beyond the familiar paths. With his backpack full of supplies, he set out early in the morning, hoping to uncover the mysteries hidden within the forest's depths. As Liam walked further, the air grew cooler, and the sounds of the forest became quieter. He felt a strange presence but couldn't see anything unusual. Suddenly, out of the corner of his eye, he noticed a glimmering light. Curious, he followed it deeper into the woods. The light led him to a small clearing, where an old stone well stood. Liam cautiously approached the well and peered inside. To his surprise, the well seemed bottomless, and a soft voice echoed from within. "Who dares approach the Well of Whispers?" the voice asked. Startled, Liam took a step back. "It's just me, Liam. I didn't mean to intrude," he said nervously. "Fear not," the voice replied. "You have been chosen to seek the truth. But beware, the forest holds more than just secrets. Will you face your fears, or will you turn back?" Determined, Liam nodded. "I will face whatever lies ahead," he declared. With that, the ground beneath him trembled, and the trees seemed to shift. The forest had come alive, and Liam's journey had only just begun.
